THE London Times, in an article dealing with the British North Borneo Court in the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, forecasts the future as follows :- It is expected that the Colony will soon become an Imperial possession. And, if so, it might be advisable to consider whether an arrangement could not be made by which for administrative purposes it might be combined with Sarawak and Brunei; for we believe it could not be difficult to persuade the Sultan of the latter to part with his right for a moderate consideration, while Rajah Brooke, of Sarawak, might not object to be placed under Imperial protection.

SATURDAY'S Gozette contains a copy of Circular Despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, inclosing copies and translations of the treaties between France and manufacture under the non-conventional or general tariff as compared with what they will be under the Conventional tariff when the new arrangement with Spain comes into force. Copies are also given of an Act altering the duties levied in Britain on wines, and of despatches fixing the date on which the commercial Convention shall come into force in Great Britain and Spain viz., the 15th August, and into their Colonies viz., the 15th October.

A RATHER serious attack was made last night upon a police informer by ten men armed with swords. The informer had given evidence about a fortnight ago against some gamplers at No. 53 East Street when a number of mon were arrested by Sergeant Mann. Several of the inmates, it would appear, had vowed vengeance on the informer and had organised a party to attack him. This party, among whom the informer distinguished three of the gamblers, made up on him at Tank Lane and chased him from there to Po Yuan Street when they closed round him. They there dealt him several blows with their awords and knives. The deepest cut was on the calf of the leg, which went to the bone and nearly severed the lower part from the rest of the body. The unfortunate man also received two cuts on the side of the head. They also almost scalped him while cutting off his queue. The attacking party immediately made off after they had wreaked their spite. A LAD, 17 years old, named Lo Amei was convicted at the Police Court this morning of obtaining $10 by means of false pretences. It appears that about the 15th August last he made up to a widow near the Hongkong Dispensary and asked the way to Sai Ying Pan. The widow happened to be going in that direction and both walked together for some time. In the course of their walk the defendant produced three nuggets, which he said were gold, and offered to sell them. THE COMING AL FRESCO FETE

We have received some particulars regarding the coming At Fresco Fête which is to be given in the Public Gardens on Friday and Saturday, the 12th and 13th November. in aid of the Alice Memorial Hospital, which will no doubt prove of interest to our readers. The idea of holding a fele for this purpose was suggested by Mrs Marsh, the wife of our Acting Governor, who convened a meeting of ladies to consider how the project might be carried into effect. Mr J. H. Stewart Lockhart, who performed the duties of honorary secretary of the fête in aid of the Kwantung Inundation Fund, was thereafter invited to act as honorary secretary, and with the aid of Messrs C. G. Grace. Commander Rumsey, C. Ford, H. McCallum, Dr Ho Kai, Captain Bunbury, Wei Yuk and Turner (who form a Working Committee) has been for some time past engaged in making the necessary arrangements. The Gardens will on this occasion be brilliantly illuminated by 2,000 Japanese lanterns, fish lanterns and gas, which has only recently been laid on. One of the main features of the Fete as a means of raising money will be a fancy bazaar. the stalls of which will be presided over by the following ladies :- Mrs Chalmers stall for the sale of fancy work, including ombroideries; Mrs Withers' Refroshment atall ! Mrs Manson's dairy stall ; Mrs Jameson's fancy paper stall; and one lady whose prophetie powers are well known, has consented to tell fortunes, in a Sibyline retreat. When the official preparations were completed, the priests from the monastery were called out. These latter brought with them the figurative cap and bells, the symbols o their profession, so useful in expelling demons, and attracting good spirits. Lust but not least, alongside of the official atlendants and waiting to take his turn with the expectant prefect and Buddhists, and laoists, and expresers, was a man skilled in the craft which Tubal Cain is said to have founded and Long-fellow has immortalized -a veritable 'village blacksmith,'-

STORM WARNINGS FOR THE FAR

The Singapore Free Press, in an article inspired by remarks made recently in these columns, makes a suggestion to provide a more extensive series of storm warnings than is in force at present, a suggestion which is worthy of careful attention from have come upon the province as a just shipowners, shipmasters and insurance

The subject of meteorological observations and storm warnings has been attracting considerable attention at Hongkong. owing, apparently, to the failure of the Government Astronomer to secure reciprocity with other ports, such as Shanghai and Manila. We are not here, except in a general way, concerned about the rights of the squabble which appears to have arisen. but the remarks of our northern contem poraries suggest an interesting enquiry. Would it not be possible to secure telegraphic intimations here from Munila Labuan, Saigon, Hongkong, Batavia and other ports on the eastern side, and from Rangoon, Calcutta, Madras and other ports on the West, rog rding the state of the barometer and typhoons, cyclones, or gales which may be threatening or blowing?

In one respect we undoubtedly labour under a great disadvantage for making any such arrangement. Our locality is so exempt from storms that we can offer little information in return. But the point for consideration by the reciprociting ports is not the amount of news derivable from our and of the line, but the benefit which may be conferred upon vessels engaged in their own trade. Singapore and Penang-for we should, of course, work in concert if the ides over took a practical shape—would thus become important warning centres to vessels bound either way. It is, by no means, impossible that careful observation would detect a very close conne tion between the rain all in the Straits Settlements and climatic disturbances of a more serious nature a few hundred miles off If this were borne out by experience, weather intimations from the Straits would possess a definite value. But without trusting to this, there is quite enough to justify an attempt to utilise the telegraph for the benefit of shipping more extensively than it has yot been availed of. We do not suggest any imitation of Hongkong in the way of establishing a costly observatory with a highly paid Director and staff. Our Mayer Attendant, in consultation with the Colonial Surgeonsat the two ports, could easily carry out the simple duties of posting in some public place the telegrams received from the various stations. As regards Saigon and Manila we should, of course, be dependent upon the courtosy of the respective Governmen s, and of their Consular representatives here and at Penang; nor do we antioipate that any difficulties would arise in this respect. It is far more likely that obstacles would arise at places under our own control. A very important factor, also, in the matter would be the atlitude of the Telegraph Company as to what terms it would demand for carrying out the scheme. For all ordinary work, a code of the letters. of the alphabet, in conjunction with the compass points, would amply suffice. Thus, to telegraph that a typhoon was passing in S. Wly. direction from Hongkong to Manila such a signal as T-HK S.W. -M would amply anflice; while the forty or fifty sentences for explanations (such as It appears to be moving slowly 'could be easily put in a short code. But little practical difficulty, therefore, would arise on the score of expense, and as the benefit would be international and widespread, no Government would hesitate to provide the very moderate funds n cessary for carrying out the project in an effect ve manner.

The well-meant scheme of Sir John Pone Hennessy appears to have been a partial failure, owing to personal idiosyncracies on the part of the doubtless accomplished. scientist in charge of the observatory at Hongkong. His complaint is, we believe, that his communications are not duly reiprocated by his scientific confreres at the Chinese and Philippine ports: Singapore would, however, be exempt from hostile criticism in this respect as (unless there were anything in the connection between storms and rainfall, which an experience of several years might be necessary to determine) the reciprocity would, to quote a well known bull, be all on one side. The Straits ports, in effect, would simply be receiving stations, and this point clearly understood, there would be no room for grumbling at any real or fancied neglect on the part of our local meteorologists. But to be of real service, telegrams should be received and posted twice daily. Local enterprise might eventually find itself equal to the task of publishing a daily weather chart of the coast from Madras to Shanghai and including the Philippines, Borneo and a portion of Netherlands India. Apart, however from this, such a comprehensive scheme as we advocate could not fail to be sels passing through the Straits.
